District Pioneer Dies at High River

CHARLES DAVID TUTTLE
Charles David Tuttle of High River passed away in High River hospital on January 9 after a short illness. He was 82 years of age.

Born in Iowa he was married to Miss Bertha Stengel in 1897. In 1907 they moved to the Vulcan district, engaging in farming, and in 1929 took up land west of Nanton. In 1944 Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle retired to High River to reside.

He was pre-deceased by his wife in December, 1950, over a year ago, and is survived by three daughters and three sons. They are Mrs. L. L. Guyn of High River, Mrs. Gordon Stewart of Champion; Mrs. Charles Craig of Cayley; Chauncey of Armada; Keith of Nanton and Dwight of Kimberley. Fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren also survive.

Although Mr. Tuttle had led a retired life for some years, he was highly regarded by all neighbors and friends, many of whom attended the funeral services which were held in the Baptist church on Sunday, Jan. 13 at 2:30 p.m. Rev. J. Talbot conducted the service, and arrangements were in charge of the Spodgrass Funeral Home. Bowie, as Noble Grand and head of the local I.O.O.F. lodge.

Other elected officers installed by Past D.D.G.M. Bowie and his chosen staff were: Elmer Kultima, Vice-Grand; V. A. Coleman, Recording Secretary; B. A. Lloyd, Treasurer; W. E. Roebuck, Financial Secretary.

Vulcan Loses To R.C.A.F., 5 to 4

Local hockey fans witnessed another thrilling game in the Vulcan arena last Thursday night when the R.C.A.F. team from No. 7 S.F.T.S., Claresholm, defeated the Vulcan Intermediates by a score of 5-4 in a Foothills hockey league fixture.

Due to the fact that the visitors had to push their bus most of the way from Claresholm and did not arrive until 10:00 p.m., many fans had left so that only a fair crowd was in attendance. The local arena featured a "ladies night" on this occasion and despite the late starting of the game, the idea was deemed to be a success. The feminine cheering helped and if more had turned out there is little doubt that the home team would have emerged victorious.

The first period proved a bad one for Vulcan. While play was fast, clean and fairly even, the airmen rapped in four goals while Pat Walker scored Vulcan's lone tally on a pass from G. Gorbous. Two minor penalties were handed out, one to each team.

In the second period, Zaleski (Shaw) scored for the visitors and Gorbous bulged the net for Vulcan on a pass from Boutland. This period saw Pat Walker take a stiff body check which shook him up but he was able to continue and Ronnie Marshall sustained a double cut over his left eye which necessitated his removal from the game and required two stitches.

Collins of the R.C.A.F. received a five minute penalty as a result of the incident.

In the final frame, Vulcan scored two goals at 15:00 and 15:30 marks while a man short and generally forced the play, but could not score the tying goal, missing six times on what appeared to be wonderful opportunities.

Play was fast and clean with both teams showing they could make a fast breakaway and displaying good teamwork, making

Letter to the Editor
The Editor,
Dear Sir:

Mail volume in the recent Christmas Rush once again set up a new record, and so also I might say did the weather. Both these factors imposed a particularly severe strain upon the facilities of the Postal Service of Canada, despite the preparations made to handle the extra anticipated load, and which among other things involved the employment of 27,000 temporary helpers.

Co-operation extended by the public in early mailing of their Christmas gifts and greetings was,

Accident Victim's Condition Improves

Condition of Dale Root of Lomond, who sustained a skull fracture last week while helping get a truck out of a ditch, is somewhat improved and hope is held out for his ultimate recovery. A patient in the Vulcan Municipal Hospital, he has now regained consciousness.

The accident occurred after dark on the highway ten miles from Lomond, near Armada. Reports indicate that Dale, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Root of Lomond, was assisting in getting a grain truck out of the ditch. Driver of the grain truck was Ross Chambers of Armada and driver of the tow truck was Gordon Lucas, also of Armada. Root was on the road and it is believed that in attempting to loosen or adjust the tow chain he slipped and struck his head heavily against some part of the truck.

Candlelight Circle Hears Missionary

The January meeting of the Candlelight Circle of the Church of Christ was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Cutforth and 23 members and five visitors were in attendance.

After a short business period, Miss Edna Hunt of the Mission field in India gave a very interesting discussion on her life and work there.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Elsie Hollister and Mrs. Myrtle Walker.

The February meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Chow.

however, even more notable than in previous years and it was this fact that enabled the postal workers to cope efficiently with the unexpected difficulties that arose.

While it is true that in some areas the severe weather conditions were responsible for delays in mail delivery, in general throughout the country Post Offices were able to keep pace with the mail as it came in and most were back into a normal basis by the day before Christmas.

The purpose of this letter is to thank the public for the assistance given to us, and also to express to the newspapers of Canada our appreciation of their help in making the public aware of the many ways in which their co-operation could be made effective.

At the same time, may I express to you and the members of your staff my very best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

Yours sincerely,

Operation 1952

1952 ought to be a good year. Its the year in which most people are going to do great things. Having kicked in the teeth of 1951, in which they were going to save money, to get thin, to finish up the rock garden, to start their memoirs, to knit a sweater, to paint the back fence, to clean up the alley, to thin out the shelterbelt, they face 1952 with a nice clean slate ahead.

In 1952 they will sock away a few dollars for a rainy day, they will cut down their weight, finish the garden projects started five years ago, write letters to all their friends and relatives, knit that sweater, clean up the back yard including painting the fence, cut all the dead wood out of the shelterbelt and not only those things but also—cut out smoking, take long walks, read some improving books, help in a community effort, visit all the people they have been neglecting, learn a language, fix the roof, build a hobby shop, put in new fences, listen to "Radio Forum" every week, be punctual, be generous, be good-humored, discover oil, stop wasting time, eat properly, and work hard.

Yeah, its going to be great stuff—Operation 1952.

Where's The Chinook?

We hear old timers asking: "What's happened to those good old time Chinooks?"

We second the motion. What has happened to that South Alberta phenomenon which would lick up a foot or two of snow in a few hours and make the hearts of ranchers and motorists glad? Chinooks have been as scarce as the proverbial hen's tooth, the past few winters. We have, it is true, things which the unknown call Chinooks but their resemblance to the real thing is purely incidental. The wind blows from the southwest in the heart of winter but it's not even a good token of the Chinooks we used to have. They have got no oomph. They come from the right direction but they've lost their authority on the way.

Time was when our Chinook winds were worth while boasting about. In the middle of a 40 below spell one would notice that arch in the south-west. Soon a gentle zephyr would waft in and take the sting out of the sub-zero temperature. Cattle on the range would up their heads and flirt their tails in a knowing way. Soon the water would be gushing down the coulees, fur caps and overcoats would be discarded.

George Ross, South Alberta's Flying Rancher, says our Chinooks the past few winters have mostly been misnomers. His experience is that a Chinook brings a temperature of at least 48 degrees with enough push behind it to literally lick up the snow off the ranges and make the hearts of the cattle glad. It's better than any snow plow that's ever been invented. A Chinook is a Chinook is a Chinook is the parlance of Gertrude Stein. It just can't be mistaken, and anything less is an imposter.

Mr. Weather Man, please pass the Chinooks.

Social Credit Courses

The sharp remark of a much tried and old-fashioned Conservative that "Alberta has the only conservative government in Canada" appears to be justified when you read that the Minister of Education pleaded with Social Credit delegates not to pass a resolution that steps be taken "to educate our school children on the true principles of sound finance." In short Mr. Casey doesn't hold with "spreading political propaganda in the schools." Good for Mr. Casey. We always thought he didn't exactly see eye to eye with the full program of Social Credit.

It will be remembered that the late William Aberhart took a very strong stand in this matter. He wanted to see that no one arrived at voting age unsaved and unshriven when it came to the true political doctrine. He believed profoundly in the faith and in himself as its prophet and he was quite prepared to see that others believed in it too, if necessary by forcible feeding through text books.

The present Provincial government appears to believe in the old-fashioned principle of letting the younger generation find its own political feet and what is more it doesn't appear to believe particularly in Social Credit principles. —Banff Crag & Canyon.

K. N. O. Witaul says, "This here Leap Year custom is a clinging affair for a bachelor. If you refuse a woman's proposal you have to buy her a clinging silk dress, or if you say you'll marry her she'll cling to you the rest of your life."

January

The moon of hardship, January blocks
The hunter's trail with snow, and buries deep
The paths of elk and deer, among the rocks
The surly black bear sleeps the winter sleep.
Through snow-bent branches flits the blue-crowned jay;
The dawns are pale, the nights are keen and clear;
And, trudging earthward down the Milky Way,
Old January brings another year.

All Year Round

Though January brings the stress Of sleet and snow—or mugginess;
Though February pours a flood,
And searching March winds chill the blood;
Though April with her dance of flowers;
Though May is crowned the Queen of Spring,
Black frosts blight her blossoming;
Though June, perhaps—
When free from hail and thunder claps;
July—dull, sultry, airless, heavy,
August—the trees are over-leafy,
September—back to mists and gloom,
October kneels the leaf-world's doom;

November—fog, flood, mire and frost;
December—and all the year is lost!
Then with the annual cycle done
Of lunar warmth and frigid sun,
Despite the cold, heat, drought and rain,
We go the motley round again.
—C. E. Lawrence.

Oil Search Centred in Alberta

Records Tumble In Oil Industry--108 Discoveries

By C. O. Nickle

Over two hundred oil companies, Canadian and Foreign, small and large, poured over two hundred million dollars into Western Canadian oil and gas exploration, development and land in 1951—to set for the sixth year in a row a new record. As the year gave way to 1952, oilmen were looking for structures and drilling wells at an all-time high rate, and anticipating that the New Year will again tumble records.

The past year has been tops in terms of numbers of discoveries. There were 108 new discoveries of oil or gas, plus a lengthy list of important extensions to fields previously discovered. Oil strikes for 1951 totalled forty, while natural gas was discovered in 68 new areas.

Alberta, heart of Canada's oil and gas industry, led the 1951 discovery parade with 98 finds, including 35 oil strikes and 63 gas discoveries. Saskatchewan, for several years a producer of heavy crude at Lloydminster, came through with a pair of oil strikes and three gas finds the past year, plus encouragement in other areas. Manitoba provided its first oil, with a pair of discoveries in the southwest corner of the province. British Columbia came through with a gas discovery and its first oil strike, both in the north-eastern section of the province.

Best single discovery of the year was Wizard Lake, a Devonian reef field expected to have major rating (oil reserve exceeding 100 million barrels), found by Texaco Exploration Company and McColl Frontenac Oil Company southwest of Leduc field in central Alberta.

The past year gave further assurance that the Alberta Basin is and will continue to be for many years highly favored hunting ground for oil and gas. The rich reserves so far found (oil, upwards of two billion barrels; gas, over 12 trillion cubic feet) are probably only a small part of ultimate reserves.

North America's most important oil and gas development of 1951 was the first tapping of these resources in commercial volume on the Williston-Moose Jaw basin, a huge virgin basin covering much of the Dakotas and eastern Montana, plus southern Saskatchewan and southwest Manitoba. Several discoveries came, most important being a probable major field near Tioga in North Dakota, found by Amerada Petroleum Corporation. In coming years the Williston Basin may rival Alberta as an important producer.

In the spring of 1951 Alberta oil broke out of its Prairie Province confines, when the combination of the Edmonton-Great Lakes pipeline and lake tankers permitted deliveries to Ontario in large volume and in small volume to the Mid-west United States.

Estimated oil production for 1951 in the Prairie Provinces exceeded 47,725,000 barrels, a boost of over 19,000,000 barrels over 1950 (recorded at 28,636,762 barrels). Alberta oilwells provided around 46,470,000 barrels in 1951, contrasted with 27,595,664 barrels in 1950. Saskatchewan set a new record estimated at 1,248,500 barrels, compared with 1,041,098 barrels in 1950. Manitoba provided several thousand barrels in 1951, its first production.

The gross value of Prairie Province oil production set a new record of an estimated $119,290,000 in 1951, a $36,000,000 boost over the 1950 total of $83,300,850. Alberta accounted for around $117,973,700 gross value in 1951, contrasted with $82,207,697 in 1950.

Preliminary figures indicate completion of 1,371 wells in the four western provinces in 1951. Reflecting the large scale exploration for new fields, and the odds against discovery, some 430 wells drilled the past year failed to find production and were abandoned. About 816 wells completed as oil producers, including discoveries and field development wells. There were about 125 gaswell completions, including discoveries and field development wells.

Alberta headed the list, with an estimated 1,228 completions, including 757 oilwells, 116 gaswells and 355 dry holes. Saskatchewan came second with 112 completions including 53 oilwells, six gaswells and 53 dry holes. Manitoba provided 16 completions, five as oilwells, plus 11 failures. British Columbia provided 15 completions, one oilwell, three gaswells and 11 dry holes.

At year's end the oil industry was pouring money at an estimated rate of $12,000,000 monthly into drilling, geological and geophysical phases of oil and gas exploration and development, an all time high for Western Canada. More millions of dollars are being poured into lease and reservation fees and bonuses to provincial government and private mineral rights owners, also at the highest rate in Canadian history.

In all four western provinces, led by oil-rich Alberta, drilling rigs and geophysical crews are working in record or near-record numbers. At year end the west had 220 rotary drilling rigs running, up 57 per cent compared to the 140 a year ago. The number exploring for new fields is now 97, up forty from a year ago. Off development drilling of oil and gas fields are now 123 rigs, also up 40 from a year ago.

Alberta dominates the drilling parade with 183 rigs running compared to 127 a year ago. Of these 69 are on wildcats, compared to 46 a year ago. Saskatchewan is second with 26 rigs working, including 18 on wildcats, contrasted with eight rigs (six on wildcats) a year ago. Manitoba is now third with six rigs running, including five on wildcats, compared with just one on a wildcard a year ago. British Columbia now has five rigs, all on wildcats, contrasted with four a year ago.

The number of geophysical parties has increased 30 per cent during the year, with 153 crews now probing for potential oil and gas structures, compared with 117 a year ago. The number of seismographs is up from 108 to 140, gravimeters from eight to ten, and magnetometers up from one to three.

Alberta has 120 of the geophysical units, compared with 105 a year ago. Current crews in the oil province are 111 seismographs, seven gravimeters and two magnetometers. Saskatchewan now has 23 crews operating, compared to ten a year ago, with present list including 21 seismographs, three gravimeters and one magnetometer. Manitoba now has five seismographs working, compared with two a year ago. Northeast British Columbia has three seismographs in the field, contrasted with none a year ago.

Looking into 1952, the oil industry sees a continuing exploration and development at record levels; continuing discoveries of oil and gas in the western provinces; a steady increase in employment of Canadians by the industry; the start of a second major oil pipeline (this time to the Pacific Coast from Alberta); and probably the approval of gas export by the Alberta government and the start of a vast gas development and pipeline building program.

During the past year Oil & Gas solidified its position as the Prairie's No. 2 industry, second only to Agriculture; its position as the Alberta Government's largest source of income; its position as a vital factor in Western Canada's economy, and the greatest single factor in relieving Canada's U.S. Dollar problem. The New Year and the years beyond give promise of a far more important role for Western Canada's Oil & Gas in the economy of Canada, North America and the World.

Motorists Fund Pays Out $198,357

Total payments out of the Unsatisfied Judgement Fund from April to Dec. 31, 1951 were $198,357, E. R. Hughes, Deputy Provincial Secretary, announced today. Collections for the fund, for which each operator of a motor vehicle in Alberta is assessed $1 annually, totalled $242,931.

A breakdown of payments from the fund showed that hospital and medical payments totalled $25,751; judgements and costs, $128,535; and miscellaneous, $44,070.

The Unsatisfied Judgement Fund exists to compensate persons injured in accidents in which motor vehicles are involved and payments are made wherever a person found responsible by the courts for damages is unable to pay the amount of the judgement.

NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Howerton of Champion, wish to thank the person who lives in the house 4½ miles west of White's corner, for bringing to their minds the fact that the milk of human kindness has completely dried up in some people.

This fact was brought to their minds on Sunday evening, January 20, when their daughter and Jack Moore were turned away from his door at 11 o'clock at night after battling the blizzard and snow drifts for over three hours. Had it not been for a truck that came along they would have been left to the mercy of the blizzard.

Jack Moore's wrists were severely frozen.

It should be a grave reminder that unless all of us get concerned over this problem and act while there is still time, we will have rats throughout the province. A rat eats $2.00 worth of food a year, may destroy or make inedible $18.00 worth or more. Rats multiply at a terrific rate. A pair of rats unmolested will leave a 3½ million progeny in 3 years. It will cost us $25,000,000.00 to keep and put up with rats in Alberta. Now is the time to act. Report rats or evidence of rats immediately to your local pest control officer or district agriculturist. We have a powerful ally in the poison Warfarin and have an ample supply on hand for use whenever needed.

Norman Jacques brought Don Jacques and some of his friends down to Arrowwood for the Moccasin Dance.

Mrs. Fred Miller is home from Hospital and we wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Bert Setters is serving Pie and Coffee every evening at the Curling rink for the convenience of all those who are curling and their friends.

The roads are practically impassable in this district. The plow just gets the roads opened up and then it starts to blow. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Meckner's road is impassable and they have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Hurley Williams to enable their girls to go to school.

Don Beagle's rink is to represent Arrowwood in the McDonald Erier Competition.

BRANT

Fire completely destroyed a barn on the farm of M. McGilvary on Sunday, Jan. 20. It is believed to have started from a heating lamp, used in a pen where there was a litter of young pigs. The pigs were lost in the blaze, also one sow, and 28 head of cattle, and a quantity of feed and chop. The fire was not noticed in time to save the building or stock. Neighbours rushed to the scene, but could do little.

Pop Murphy suffered a heart attack Sunday, Jan. 6 and spent one week in High River Hospital. He has been staying in Brant with his daughter Mabel Schultz, since he was released from hospital.

Mrs. Dorothy Pearson spent five days in High River Hospital last week. Mrs. Ed Pearson took care of the children and house during her absence. Three days after her return home Frankie Pearson came down with red measles.

Miss Leavitt and Misses Irene and Norma Jacobsen motored to Calgary Saturday, Jan. 19. They tried to return Sunday, but due to bad weather conditions, decided against it. They returned to Brant Monday morning on the train.

Roads in the Brant district are badly drifted in, except from Fletcher's into town. The snow plow opened roads Saturday and from Fletcher's into town again Monday, but wind continues. There was no school Friday or Monday.

BERRYWATER

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gerding Jr. were Calgary visitors Thursday last.

Mrs. Leslie Richardson is spending a few days in Calgary this week.

Harry Strange phoned friends in the district from Vancouver recently, after he heard of the 100-mile per hour wind in southern Alberta. He was naturally concerned about his buildings on the Strange farm here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Douglass spent a few days in Calgary recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Love were accompanied to Calgary Thursday last by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Love and Allen Sinclair.

Friends of Gordon Sinclair will be interested to learn that he and Mrs. Sinclair, now residing in Ottawa, are the proud parents of a son, born January 17.

U.S.A. MARKET PROSPECTS

Western Canadian agriculture in the years ahead is likely to find its best export market in the United States.

The U.S. population is now estimated at 155 million, an increase of over 13 million in the past ten years.

The 1951 baby crop was 3,900,000. From that the deaths must be deducted to get the net gain. It looks as though the population increase in that country is proceeding at the rate of 1½ per cent a year. By 1960 it may total 170 million.

United States agriculture may

Farming In '52

From an economic and social standpoint the implications of soil erosion are important and extensive. It is pertinent to observe that a definite cause-and-effect relationship exists between the physical removal of the soil and the many economic ills besetting agriculture.

It is an axiomatic principle that any process which destroys the essential productivity of the land can have only an adverse effect on an economy that depends so largely on the soil for its existence. Soil erosion is such a process and our nation is governed by such an economy. Truly the soil is the essence of existence and therefore one's sense of self-preservation should be powerful enough to demand that the ravages of soil erosion be checked immediately.

The fact that no single method can be relied upon to control all soil erosion on any farm or in any particular district has been reiterated many times. In most farming districts some farmers have started a definite program of conservation farming. However, there remains the undisputable fact that a few individuals in each district still obstinately refuse to adopt the control measures so necessary for universal well-being.

Complete compatibility between the human use of soil and the pattern of natural environment is impossible. Despite this realization, the obligation of adapting farm culture to the natural limitations of the land still exists. Too often, land has been denuded of its natural cover and left bare to the wind and weather. Too many grain farmers are failing to adopt strip farming and trash-cover fallows as conservation measures. Likewise, there are too many farmers of irrigated lands who have failed to protect their small acreages of high priced land from wind and water erosion. However, a far more serious crime is that of neglecting to adopt measures of emergency control when and if erosion does occur.

Past experience and research has developed methods of emergency control well within the resources and abilities of the average farmer. The Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge has demonstrated that trash-cover fallow, strip farming, contour listing, and ridging fields at right angles to the wind are effective methods of control against soil drifting.

Similarly, grassed waterways and contour strips have been successfully employed on Southern Alberta farms to combat gullying. These are but a few control methods that more farmers must adopt if present soil fertility levels are to be maintained. Now is the time to plan to incorporate one or more of these practices into farming operations for 1952.

be hard pressed to feed the increased population and maintain exports. This may give Western Canadian farmers their best opportunity for exports.

WATCH GERMINATION

As further tests are made it is found that the germination of grain on farms is most irregular. All farmers should therefore have the grain they intend to sow for seed tested for germination or make a test themselves.

COURTESY and SAFETY GO HAND-IN-HAND

OBSERVE AND PRACTICE THESE:

Objectives of safe, courteous driving:

1. Use hand signals to keep the driver behind informed of your intentions.
2. Keep on your own side of the road.
3. When in doubt as to who has the right-of-way, yield to the other driver. He may take satisfaction in having "bluffed" you... but you'll have the satisfaction of a better chance of living longer.
4. Give the pedestrian the right-of-way.
5. Always remember, you are the "other guy" ahead of the driver behind you. Watch your motor manner and give him a lesson in courtesy.

SCHOOL ESSAYS ON FARM SAFETY

The first farm safety essay competition sponsored by the Alberta Safety Council, has begun for rural students of grades five, six, seven and eight in Alberta.

The announcement comes from R. D. Jorgenson, M.L.A., Chairman of the Farm Safety Essay committee of the Alberta Safety Council. The Competition is open to all school divisions and already about one-third of these have indicated that they will participate. Entries from grades five and six will be judged separately from those of grades seven and eight. Awards will be made in each school division for the best essay in each of these two classes.

Personal first prize awards to the authors will be specially designed pins featuring the Green Cross for Safety, flanked by heads of wheat to symbolize agriculture. The schoolrooms from which the winning essays come will receive handsome wall plaques to commemorate the occasion. Some school division superintendents have indicated that their office may provide an additional prize for the young writers.

Posters and pamphlets on farm safety are being sent to school superintendents as their entries are received at the safety council office. This information deals with carbon monoxide, fires, explosives and farm machinery (except tractors). The present essay will be confined to a choice of those subjects and future competitions will deal with other accident hazards such as tractors, animals, hand tools, etc.

The farm committee of the safety council believes that safety education should be started early in life. They are receiving valuable assistance from the Department of Education and Agriculture. Other members of the committee besides Mr. Jorgenson are: N. E. Frame, Chief Superintendent of schools; R. Hennig, President Alberta School Trustees Association; E. B. Swindlehurst, Department of Agriculture; Howard Stutchbury, Manager, and Paul Lawrence, Safety Director of the Alberta Safety Council.
